A holistic approach with Living Theory research

- A holistic approach is characterized by the belief that the parts of something are intimately interconnected and explicable only by reference to the whole.
- A holistic approach to Living Theory research is distinguished by a relationally dynamic and inclusive awareness of the mutual influences of ‘I am because we are/We are because I am’.

A living-educational-theory

- A living-educational-theory is an individual's explanation for their educational influence in their own learning, in the learning of others and in the learning of the social formations which influence the explanation.

Educational Researchers and Education Researchers

Educational researchers explain the educational influences of individuals in their own learning in the learning of others and in the learning of the social formations that influence the practice and understandings.

Education researcher produced explanations of educational phenomena within the conceptual frameworks and methods of validation of the philosophy, psychology, sociology history, economics, leadership and administration and other disciplines and fields of education.

Globalisation (Economic)

The economic rationality of globalisation can lead to de-valuation and de-moralisation with the removal of values that carry hope for the flourishing of humanity from a discourse.

Economic rationality must not be permitted to hinder the full expression of living-global-citizenship.

Poverty (economic and moral)

- Different conceptions of poverty – economic and values based.
- Transcending constraints of economic poverty
- How do I use my living and lived experience to influence creative economic independence in others? Bonnie Kaplan

Felice Levine, the Executive Director of AERA and Geoff Whitty, in his Presidential Address to BERA, have both urged these organisations to use Education Research rather than Educational Research.

Creating a Profession of Master Educators

- The Florida Bureau of Educator Certification (BEC)... supports the academic achievement of our students by assuring that our educators are professionally qualified for highly effective instruction. Florida educators must be certified to teach in our public schools and in many of our private schools. Educators include classroom teachers, school administrators, and other support professionals, such as guidance counsellors and media specialists. The Bureau of Educator Certification (BEC) is committed to providing timely, accurate, and efficient services to all constituents.

Recognising and Accrediting Master Educators

- This recognition and accreditation requires a partnership between organisations such as the Florida Bureau of Educator Certification and Universities and Colleges.
