Developing Research
across an ITE
Programme

Research Literacy

The difference between:

the ability to complete a small scale research project and present your findings in a standard form

the ability to engage with research evidence (articles, reports, etc.), to make an informed judgement about that evidence, and apply that judgement to your professional practice

the ability to reflect on professional practice, to recognise the need to research that practice, and carry out that research as a practitioner with the intention of improving the teaching, learning and assessment in your classroom

The extended professional:

...the outstanding characteristic of the extended professional is a capacity for autonomous professional self-development through systematic self-study, through the study of the work of other teachers, and through the testing of ideas by classroom research procedures.

Stenhouse, L (1975) An Introduction to Curriculum Research and Development London: Heinemann

Aspirations, etc...

Knowing What	vs	Knowing How surface	vs	deep
product	vs	process

Recognising need for, and enacting, a balance between these positions, whilst steadily moving from KW to KH. KH requires solid foundation of KW (balance between theory and practice)

Graduate Attributes (such as reasoning, creativity, ethical practice, teamworking, collaboration) – are slow growing and need a complex environment, an ethos – a particular climate, a sequence of role models - in which to develop (Knight, 2006)

Evidence supports the position that graduate skills or attributes are best taught in embedded courses (Barrie, 2004)

Nb: Outputs; ECER/TEAN Papers; Article Reviewers; Conference Mentors; Editorship BJSE

Thanks to Pete... Programme ILOs for CA

To produce qualified Primary (5-11) University of Cumbria teachers who:

know how to shape their own learning through active research;

challenge, critique and debate matters pertaining to education, pedagogy and inclusion

are inspired and equipped to engage in post-graduate study
