

Temple, Sue ORCID: https://orcid.org/0000-0002-0494-6704 (2019) A significant, not famous person. In: Yorkshire History Forum, 13th November 2019, Leeds Trinity University. (Unpublished)

Downloaded from: http://insight.cumbria.ac.uk/id/eprint/5418/

Usage of any items from the University of Cumbria's institutional repository 'Insight' must conform to the following fair usage guidelines.

Any item and its associated metadata held in the University of Cumbria's institutional repository Insight (unless stated otherwise on the metadata record) may be copied, displayed or performed, and stored in line with the JISC fair dealing guidelines (available here) for educational and not-for-profit activities

provided that

- the authors, title and full bibliographic details of the item are cited clearly when any part of the work is referred to verbally or in the written form
  - a hyperlink/URL to the original Insight record of that item is included in any citations of the work
- the content is not changed in any way
- all files required for usage of the item are kept together with the main item file.

You may not

- sell any part of an item
- refer to any part of an item without citation
- amend any item or contextualise it in a way that will impugn the creator's reputation
- remove or alter the copyright statement on an item.

The full policy can be found here.

Alternatively contact the University of Cumbria Repository Editor by emailing  $\underline{insight@cumbria.ac.uk}$ .

Creative Approaches to History - A significant, not famous, person - Sue Temple

The Suitcase Activity

Historical Interpretation

Things we know	Things we can guess

Noor Inayat Khan

- Born 1/1/1914 in Kremlin Grandfather was Indian Royal Family
- Moved to Paris, father died.
- Got a degree in Childhood Psychology, wrote children's stories and books
- Played several instruments
- Spoke French, English and Russian well
- Brought up as a Sufi Muslim
- Fled to England when Nazis invaded France
- Decided to help fight against Nazi regime
- Became a wireless operator

- Potential as a spy recognised trained by SOE
- Sent into France with life expectancy of 6 weeks- left weapons behind
- Evaded capture for 3 months then given up by sister of 'Prosper' Network for £100
- Sent to Concentration camp and died just before end of war.
- Received George Cross one of only 3 women to do so.

The Princess Spy

Justification for our choice -

"Noor Inayat Khan was chosen for a number of reasons. She was:
 mixed race - American and Indian; a Sufi Muslim; she lived within living memory; had an interesting and influential life; In addition she was a princess and a spy (potentially appealing to boys and girls in different ways). Finally there were clear links with a period of History which is covered in the National Curriculum."

Great Corby Village & School

- 67 Pupils, only one child not white, British, Christian
- Involved whole school
- Different reactions from different staff
- Involved Local community
- Try out cross curricular planning
- Something different and fun!

Planning Process

- Met with Head and brainstormed ideas
- Took responsibilty for different areas
- Brought together with the staff
- Made a MTP
- Planned the week
- Collected resources & booked people/places

Research - Juniors

Suitcase Activity

School Dinners – under rationing!

Involving Local Community

Sleepover at Tullie House

With help from the BA QTS History Specialists

Identity Cards & Gas mask boxes

Air Raid evacuations — to the bike shed!

World War II artefacts handling

Role Play Activities

Children took on the roles of Noor, Vera Atkins and Buckmaster.

Breakfast and Presentations

A memorial was unveiled to Noor by Princess Anne in November 2012. The bronze bust commemorating Britain's only female Muslim war heroine is the first stand-alone memorial to an Asian woman in the UK.