25.08.12 – 06.01.13 HMKV (Hardware Medien Kunst Verein) in Dortmund Germany

In 2012 the world celebrates not only the centenary of John Cage's birth, but also the sixtieth anniversary of the premiere of his silent piece 4' 33" (four minutes, thirty-three seconds) on August 29, 1952. Our 2001 commission Kenotaphion features in a group show celebrating these anniversaries.

Douglas Gordon – The End of Civilisation

05.07.12 – 06.07.12 Tyne Theatre, Newcastle Upon Tyne, NE1 4AG

The film is shown on multiple screens and with layered sound. One screen is devoted to a close recording of the burning piano, from when it is first set alight to it being reduced to ashes. Another presents a panning shot of the tranquil surrounding landscape—occasionally, licks of flame or wisps of smoke invade the periphery of the screen, the only indication that the seemingly serene landscape is in close proximity to a raging fire. A co-commission with Great North Run Culture as part of the programme for the Cultural Olympiad.

Richard Grayson – The Magpie Index

03.05.12 CCA, 350 Sauchiehall Street, Glasgow, G2 3JD
