Digital Context

- Canvas for aysnc online – BAES Early Careers’ platform
- WebEx for live online - BAES’s platform
- Lancaster & Portsmouth for live in place locations
- Learners have multiple LinkedIn Learning (LiL) accounts: UoC (student) & BAES (apprenticeship)
- Mixed level of access/use to UoC systems by learners
- Restrictions on employers’ laptops
- Multiple drivers: BAES Early Careers also have strategy to increase uptake of LiL– evidence of career-long learning
- In-year request from employer to review approach to live online learning
- Security restrictions/limited admin:
 - Unable to embed LiL LTI in Canvas
 - Workarounds required for monitoring engagement

- At current rate: 500+ apprentices enrolled per year when fully operational

Project Management Courses

- 1,000+ project management students

* provisional

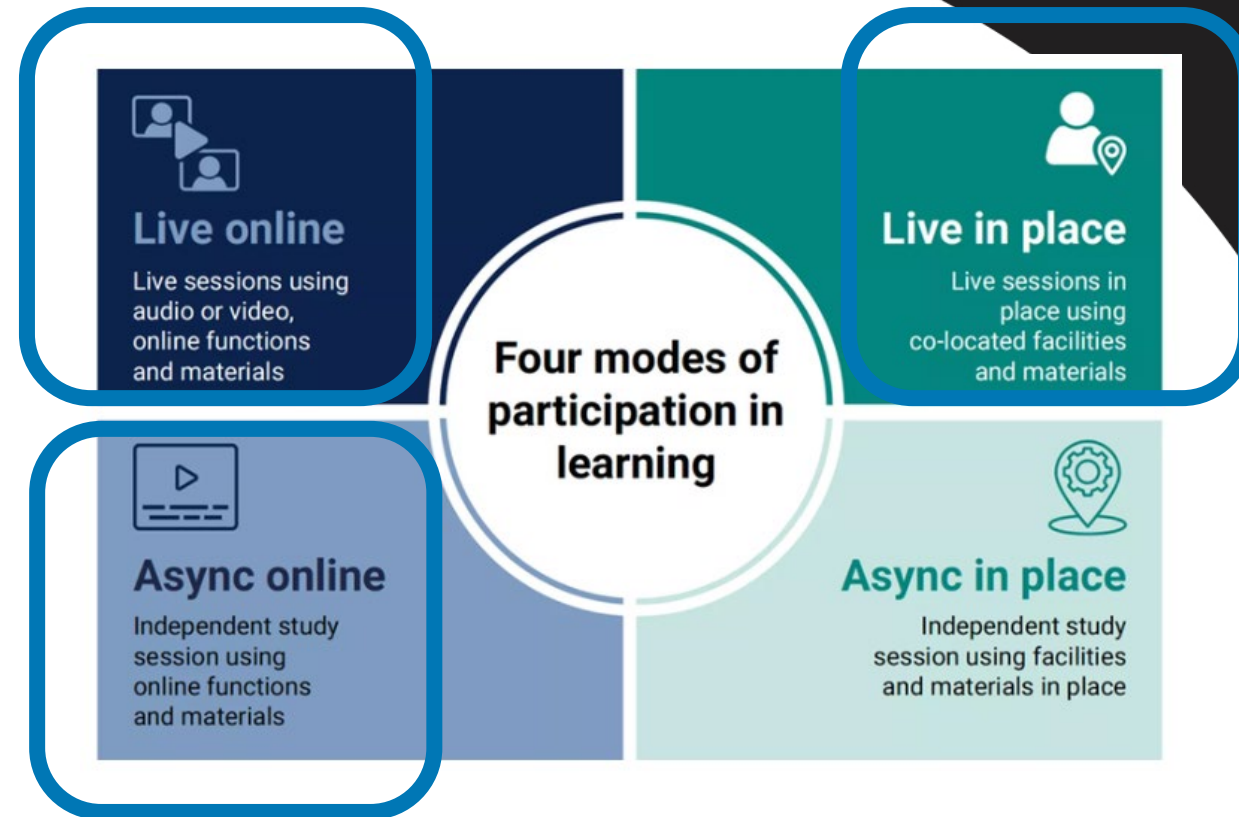

Rationale – Why?

- UoC strategy - increased use of resources & engagement (Learning, Teaching & Assessment Plan).
- Project Management
 - Some prior use use, made sense to increase use
 - Responding to employer requirements for more independent online learning
 - Awareness of resource investment to create new high-quality resources
 - Getting ahead and FOMO
- Included in UoC pilot: scale and complexity of delivery.
- Success factors? Number of users, return users, completion of course, watched a video, completed quiz, hours, some engagement...
- Established approach to online learning, underpinned by Universal Design for Learning (UDL) principles – before session | during session | post session.
- Supplement content, to enrich the learning.
- Needs to be additional – not central – otherwise risk of rejection.
- Continuous reinforcement of the 'why' for each activity.

Participation – When/Where/How Much?

- Live online – evidence of engagement, but some dissatisfaction in evaluation surveys
- Async online – limited engagement
- Live in place – tested for parity between locations, but not well received
- Variable guidance, volume and ‘chunks’ of learning – what is an agreed reasonable expected level?
- Variable evidence of learning – e.g. e-portfolio, certificate submission, quizzes, engagement stats
- ‘Recommend’ or ‘Assign’ – resources/activities at a cohort level

Curriculum design – What/How?

- Focused on topic (knowledge) areas
- Mix of content and resources:
 - Videos
 - Courses
 - Curated courses
- Selecting content and resources requires time investment
- Created formative assessments (e.g. quizzes) to check for completion and understanding

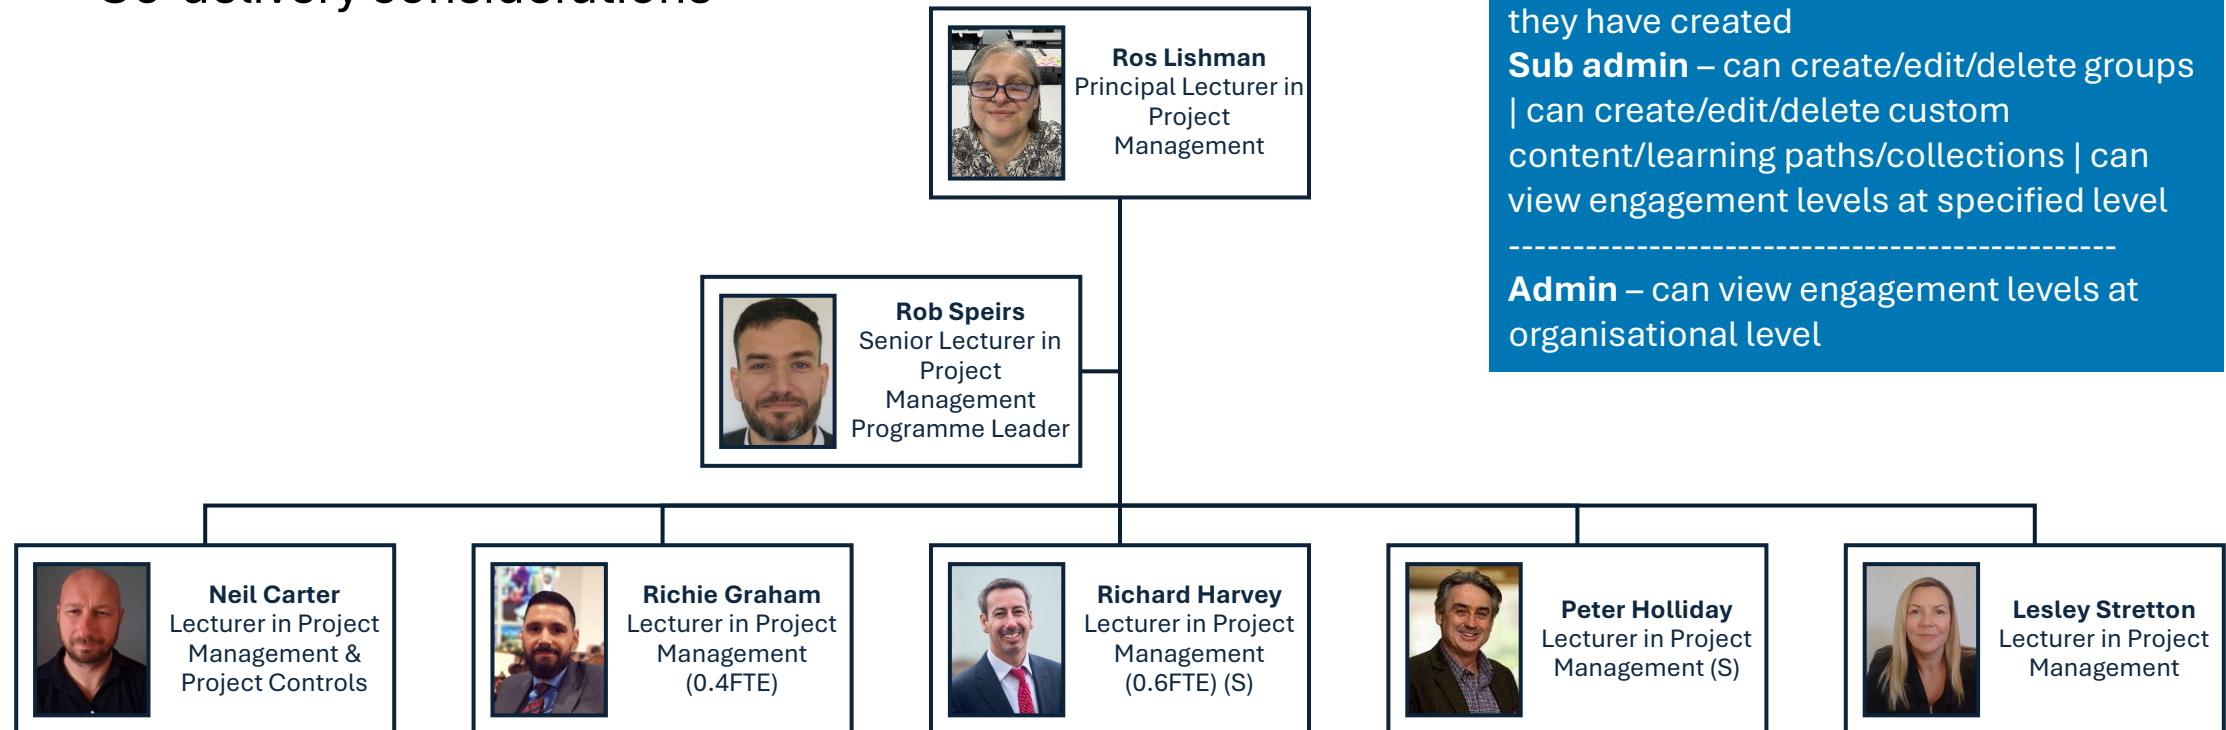

LiL Permissions & Roles – Who?

- Mixed approach to team roles
- New LiL permissions granted during pilot
- Informal approach to development
- Full staff team buy-in
- Co-delivery considerations

User – all need to be registered to use LiL
Curator – can create/share custom learning paths | obtain insights on content performance | access/edit/delete content they have created
Sub admin – can create/edit/delete groups | can create/edit/delete custom content/learning paths/collections | can view engagement levels at specified level

Admin – can view engagement levels at organisational level
